

Sociology

Transition Work

Firstly; read, watch or listen to a relevant information source - take a look at the suggested reading, listening, watching list below for inspiration (it could be anything else you feel reflects the sociological imagination) - and write a review including what you learned, what questions it raised for you, whether you would recommend this to someone else

Reading:

Everyday Sexism
Laura Bates

Born a Crime
Trevor Noah

www.sociology.org.uk

Natives: Race & Class in the ruins of empire
Akala

Generation Z
Chloe Combi

Freakonomics
Levitt & Dubner

Watching: (Netflix or other streaming service)

I, Daniel Blake

Seaspiracy

Moxie

The Social Dilemma

Old Enough

Spider's Web

American Factory

Maid

Dirty Money

They Live

13th

The Laundromat

Listening: BBC Sounds or wherever you get your podcasts

Unreal: A Critical
History of Reality

Thinking Allowed:
most episodes

Things Fell Apart:
Jon Ronson

Free Thinking:
Sociology in the 21st Century

Secondly; reflect on your experiences of family and education. How have you been shaped by your family, how much influence do they have on your views and ideas? How has your educational experience been so far - the highs and possible lows - what's affected that?

This should all be emailed to racheljones@huishepiscopi.net

By 4 September 2024